Any full/part time Marist student or faculty/staff member may sing in the choir. Members must be present at every rehearsal for any/all groups in which they choose to participate. The attendance policy is as follows:

• Members are allowed four absences per semester in any group under Singers jurisdiction, with the exception of Chapel Choir, Time Check and Sirens, who will be responsible for constructing their own attendance policies. A warning letter will be sent after the fourth absence.

• Members who experience a class conflict with rehearsal times and can only attend one rehearsal per week are permitted three absences per semester. A fourth absence during a single semester will result in removal from the group for the remainder of the semester. Members will be notified in writing (see Appendix A). A warning letter will be sent after the forth absence.

• Missing the final dress rehearsal before any event will count as two absences.

• Members who are removed from Marist College Singers during a semester will also be removed from additional groups which require Singers participation for the remainder of the semester.

• Members who are more than 7 minutes late will be marked “late” for the rehearsal, with two lates equaling one absence.

Special circumstances requesting excusal from a concert must be submitted in writing to the Director and the Executive Board for approval a week prior to the event. Members who are absent as the result of an emergency situation must submit their excusal requests by the day after the event. Excusal is not guaranteed for any reason.
